PROFESSIONAL SUMMARY

As a partner and architect of a design and build firm, Jason sees firsthand how construction and details come together that few architects get to experience. As a consultant developing expert opinions, he assesses material performances, researches building codes, investigates building conditions and construction practices, interprets contractual relationships, and provides technical writing.

Passionate about people and creating spaces they will enjoy; Jason uses his creativity and organizational skills to take a big picture concept to the most detailed level of constructability. His strengths include being a good listener and communicator while working with clients, the design team, and the construction team. He delivers projects within budget and schedule while honoring well-thought-out design. Jason has over 20 years of construction and industry experience in a variety of project types, including commercial, office, education, collegiate, performance, worship, health care, senior living, restoration, sports, and residential.
